Sponsorship for a child to migrate to Australia

Form
40CH

Important – Please read this information carefully before you complete this application. Once you have completed this application we strongly advise that you keep a copy for your records.

Before you fill in this form you should read booklet 2, Child Migration, which is available from the Department of Immigration and Citizenship (the department) website www.immi.gov.au/allforms/. If you are satisfied that you are eligible to sponsor the child, you should continue reading these instructions.

Integrity of sponsorship

The department is committed to maintaining the integrity of the visa and citizenship programs. Please be aware that if you provide us with fraudulent documents or claims, this may result in processing delays and possibly your sponsorship being refused.

Who can sponsor?

The child must be sponsored by the parent, relative or guardian (as applicable for the category). The sponsor gives a written undertaking to provide support for the child, including accommodation and financial assistance as required to meet the child's reasonable living needs during their first 2 years in Australia, or the 2 years following the grant of the child's visa if the child is applying in Australia. The sponsor must complete the undertaking in Part N of this form.

The sponsor must be an Australian citizen, permanent resident or eligible New Zealand citizen aged 18 years or over. If you wish to sponsor an orphan relative who is applying in Australia you must have been resident in Australia for a reasonable period, usually 2 years.

'Partner' means your spouse or de facto partner (including same-sex partners).

How to sponsor

To make a valid application, form 47CH Application for migration to Australia by a child and the Visa Application Charge (or evidence that you have paid the charge in Australia) must be lodged together. This form should also be lodged at the same time.

Visa Application Charges may be subject to adjustment on 1 July each year. This may increase the cost of a visa.

If the child is 18 years of age or over

Complete this form and send or give it to the child you are sponsoring.

The child should complete form 47CH and lodge it together with this sponsorship form at the nearest office of the department if applying in Australia, or Australian mission if applying outside Australia.

If the child is under 18 years of age

If the child is outside Australia, complete this form and send it to the child's current guardian to lodge on the child's behalf. An application for an Adoption (subclass 102) visa must be lodged at the relevant overseas mission.

If the child is in Australia you should lodge the completed form at the nearest office of the department.

You, or the child's current guardian, should complete form 47CH on the child's behalf.

If you are sponsoring a child who is onshore and has had a visa refused or cancelled and does not hold a substantive visa, then this completed and signed form must be provided at the same time as form 47CH. The child must also be under 25 years of age unless claiming to be incapacitated for work due to disability.

Parental responsibility (custody) requirement (for a child under 18 years of age)

If another parent or any other person can legally determine where the child can live, permission for the child to migrate to Australia must be obtained from that person. This must be in the form of either a completed form 1229 Consent to grant an Australian visa to a child under the age of 18 years or a statutory declaration. Alternatively, the parental responsibility (custody) requirement will be satisfied if the sponsoring parent is in possession of a valid court order in relation to the child which permits them to permanently remove the child from the child's home country, or has a valid Australian child order issued by the Family Court in Australia and the grant of the visa would be consistent with that order.

Protection of children

The Australian Government considers that the safety of children is paramount and this is reflected in policies about the sponsorship of minors for visas to enter Australia. The government wants to ensure that children seeking to enter Australia under partner and child visas are protected from being sponsored by people with convictions for child sex offences or other serious offences indicating that they may pose a significant risk to a child in their care.

A sponsorship limitation in the Migration Regulations 1994 prevents a sponsorship from being approved if one of the proposed applicants is under 18 years of age and the Minister is satisfied that the sponsor or the sponsor's spouse or de facto partner has a conviction or outstanding charge for a registrable offence. Where the child is aged under 18 years, sponsors (and, if applicable, their partners) of child visa applications lodged on or after 27 March 2010, are required to provide an Australian National Police Check and/or foreign police certificate(s) as part of the process of assessing the application. The results of the police certificate(s) are used by the department to assess the sponsorship application and whether or not the visa application satisfies public interest criteria relating to the best interests of the applicant.

A sponsorship that would otherwise be refused under this limitation may be approved at the discretion of the Minister or his delegate if 5 years have passed since completion of the sentence for the last relevant offence and there are compelling circumstances affecting the sponsor or the visa applicant.

In addition to the Australian National Police Check or other police certificate(s), sponsors must disclose to the department any information relating to any conviction for child sex offences they have had or any charges currently awaiting legal action. It is also important that migration applicants, and any non-migrating person who can lawfully determine where a migrating minor child is to live, are informed when the sponsor has such convictions or outstanding charges.

When the department is aware of any convictions or charges of this nature, through either:

- the Australian National Police Check or other police certificate(s) provided; or
- the answers you provide to Question 32 on this form (40CH); or
- liaison with relevant Commonwealth, state and territory agencies;

it may inform the migration applicant, and any non-migrating person who can lawfully determine where the applicant's migrating minor child may live, about the convictions or charges. Signing the sponsorship undertaking will be taken as your acknowledgement of this approach.

Note: Where the applicant is adopted and an Australian state or territory adoption authority has approved the adoption, police checks are obtained as part of the approval process and further police checks are not required with the application.

Assurance of Support (AoS)

An AoS may be requested if an applicant is assessed as being a potentially high user of the Australian welfare system during their first 2 years in Australia. As well as your child's circumstances, your ability to support your child (and any other dependants included in the application) may be taken into account by the decision-maker in deciding whether to request an AoS. Some of the information given by you on this form may be used for this.

What is an AoS?

An AoS is an undertaking to provide financial support to the person or persons applying to migrate so that the migrant will not have to rely on any government forms of support.

It is also a legal commitment by a person to repay to the Australian Government certain recoverable social security payments made by Centrelink to those covered by the assurance.

The sponsor of the visa applicant is not required to act as the assurer if they are not in a financial position to qualify. Generally a person who has received the full rate of any pension, benefit or allowance (other than family payments) from Centrelink during the last year will not qualify as an assurer. Another person who is an Australian citizen or permanent resident or eligible New Zealand citizen who is usually resident in Australia and over 18 years of age can act as the assurer.

Centrelink has responsibility for assessing all AoS applications. Where appropriate, this also includes managing bond lodgement. For more information about the AoS scheme including application procedures, refer to Centrelink's website at www.centrelink.gov.au or contact Centrelink on 132 850 from within Australia or 61 3 6222 3455 from outside Australia.

Note: The AoS remains in place for the duration of the assurance period regardless of whether or not the applicant has obtained a different visa (except where that visa is a Humanitarian visa) or has become an Australian citizen. Once the relevant visa has been granted, the AoS can only be cancelled in very limited circumstances and these circumstances are determined by Centrelink (not by the department).

What documents do you need?

You should provide all documents asked for in this form.

The department will need proof of your relationship to the child.

It will help processing if you lodge with this form any documents which confirm the relationship. For example, if you are sponsoring your niece or nephew as an orphan relative, you should include certified copies of your full birth certificate and the full birth certificate of your sibling who is the parent of the child.

If you or your siblings have changed your name(s) since birth, you should also provide evidence of this.

You will also need to provide evidence of your permanent resident status in Australia or proof that you are an eligible New Zealand citizen. An Australian citizen will need to send a certified copy of their citizenship certificate or, if Australian-born, a full certified copy of their birth certificate. If you are unsure about the documents needed to do this, contact the nearest office of the department or Australian mission.

You will also need to demonstrate that you will be able to meet your sponsorship obligations. These are that you will be able to assist your child, to the extent necessary, financially and in respect of accommodation, during the period of 2 years immediately following their arrival in Australia or the 2 years following the grant of the child's visa if the child is applying in Australia. The information requested on this form, including documents relating to your employment and income, will assist the decision-maker in deciding whether or not you are able to meet these obligations.

If the applicant is under 18 years of age, in order to assess the sponsorship application and the best interests of the child criterion, both you and your spouse or de facto partner are required to submit an Australian National Police Check for each person who has spent a total of 12 months or more in Australia since turning 16 years of age. In addition, police certificates from each other country in which you and your partner have spent a total of 12 months or more in the last 10 years since turning 16 years of age must also be submitted.

You must provide the original police certificates.

If you are required to submit an Australian National Police Check, you must complete the National Police Check application form that is available from the Australian Federal Police (AFP) website www.afp.gov.au

You should use Code 33 at Question 1 on the National Police Check application form and include details of any, and all, names you have been known by. If an AFP Certificate is provided based on incorrect information, the department may request another certificate. Fingerprints are not required for National Police Checks.

The information form 993i Safeguarding your personal information, available from the department's website www.immi.gov.au/allforms/ and offices of the department, gives details of how any information given by you to the department is protected.

If you are providing copies of documents they will need to be certified as true copies of the original by a justice of the peace, commissioner for declarations or a person authorised to witness statutory declarations.

Note: Applicants and sponsors are encouraged to use the local websites of Australian overseas missions to check for specific local documentation requirements before lodging the child's visa application. Website addresses are located on the department's website at www.immi.gov.au/contacts/

Two-year wait for social security payments

New migrants to Australia have to wait 2 years before they can get most social security payments. The 2 year wait starts from the date of arrival or the date of permanent residence status, whichever is the later. You should therefore think carefully about whether or not you are able and willing to provide support for the child. The 'Living in Australia' section of the booklet Child Migration provides more information on the 2 year wait including information on exemptions for some people.

Information on services to assist newly arrived migrants with settling in Australia is also available on the department's 'Settling in Australia' website at www.immi.gov.au/settle

About the information you give

The department is authorised to collect information provided on this form under Part 2 of the Migration Act 1958 (the Act) 'Control of Arrival and Presence of Non-Citizens'. The information provided will be used for assessing eligibility for a visa to travel to, enter and remain in Australia and for other purposes relating to the administration of the Act, for example, to assist migrants with settling in Australia, to monitor the conduct of migration agents, or for ensuring compliance with the Act.

Where sponsorship applications present potential child protection issues, the department will ensure the migration applicant, or a person with parental responsibility (as defined in section 61B of the Family Law Act 1975) for the applicant, is made aware of the information collected that raises child protection concerns. The section titled Protection of children on page 1 of this form gives details of situations where the department may take such action.

The information provided might also be disclosed to agencies who are authorised to receive information relating to adoption, border control, business skills, citizenship, education, health assessment, health insurance, health services, law enforcement, payment of pensions and benefits, taxation, review of decisions and regulation of migration agents.

The information on this form, including the results of any tests for Human Immunodeficiency Virus (HIV), will be used to assess the applicant's health for an Australian visa. A positive HIV or other test result will not necessarily lead to a visa being refused. These result(s) may be disclosed to the relevant Commonwealth, state and territory health agencies. Form 1071i Health requirement for permanent entry to Australia provides additional information on Australia's visa health requirements. Form 1071i is available at offices of the department or from the department's website www.immi.gov.au/allforms/

The Privacy Act 1988 (the Privacy Act) is the key law designed to safeguard personal information collected by government agencies. The information privacy principles in the Privacy Act must be obeyed by federal government agencies, including the department, when gathering, processing and disclosing information about the applicant.

Please read the information form 993i Safeguarding your personal information, which is available from the department's website www.immi.gov.au/allforms/ or from an office of the department, so as to be better informed about the agencies to which personal information might be disclosed.

The department has authority under the Migration Act 1958 to collect a range of personal identifiers from non-citizens, including visa applicants, in certain circumstances. For more detailed information please read information form 1243i Your personal identifying information, which is available from the department's website www.immi.gov.au/allforms/

The Freedom of Information Act 1982 also relates to the applicant's personal information. Under this Act the applicant can apply for access to documents containing their personal information.

Obtaining information about you from other agencies and organisations

Under section 56 of the Migration Act 1958, the department may seek information about you that is relevant to your sponsorship application from other agencies and organisations. The agencies/organisations may include:

- federal, state or territory government agencies;
- federal, state or territory law enforcement agencies;
- state or territory housing authorities (including private landlords);
- local government authorities;
- financial institutions;
- educational institutions;
- private businesses (including telecommunications and internet service providers, insurance companies); and
- any other relevant businesses or agencies.

Immigration assistance

A person gives immigration assistance to you if he or she uses, or claims to use, his or her knowledge or experience in migration procedure to assist you with your visa application, request for ministerial intervention, cancellation review application, sponsorship or nomination.

In Australia a person may only lawfully give immigration assistance if he or she is a registered migration agent or is exempt from being registered. Only registered migration agents may receive a fee or reward for providing immigration assistance.

If an unregistered person in Australia, who is not exempt from registration, gives you immigration assistance they are committing a criminal offence and may be prosecuted.

Migration agents in Australia

Migration agents in Australia must be registered with the Office of the Migration Agents Registration Authority (Office of the MARA) unless they are exempt from registration.

Migration agents outside Australia

Migration agents who operate outside Australia do not have to be registered. The department may give some overseas agents an ID number. This number does not mean that they are registered.

Note: Some Australian registered migration agents operate overseas.

Migration agent information

A migration agent is someone who can:

- advise you on the visa that may best suit you;
- tell you the documents you need to submit with your application;
- help you fill in the application and submit it; and
- communicate with the department on your behalf.

If you appoint a migration agent, the department will assume that your migration agent will be your authorised recipient, unless you indicate otherwise.

Your migration agent will be the person with whom the department will discuss your application and from whom it will seek further information when required.

You are not required to use a migration agent. However, if you use a migration agent, the department encourages you to use a registered migration agent. Registered agents are bound by the Migration Agents Code of Conduct, which requires them to act professionally in their clients' lawful best interests.

Information on migration agents, including a list of registered migration agents, is available on the Office of the MARA website www.mara.gov.au

You can also access information about migration agents on the department's website www.immi.gov.au

Exempt persons

The following people do not have to be a registered migration agent in order to provide immigration assistance, but they must not charge a fee for their service:

- a close family member (spouse, de facto partner, child, parent, brother or sister);
- a member of parliament or their staff;
- an official whose duties include providing immigration assistance (eg. a Legal Aid provider);
- a member of a diplomatic mission, consular post or international organisation.

Appointing a migration agent/exempt person

To appoint a migration agent/exempt person you should complete Part M Options for receiving written communications.

Your migration agent/exempt person should complete form 956 Advice by a migration agent/exempt person of providing immigration assistance.

Form 956 is available from the department's website www.immi.gov.au/allforms/

Options for receiving written communications

If you do not appoint a migration agent/exempt person you may still authorise another person, in writing, to receive written communications on your behalf. This person is called the authorised recipient.

Authorised recipient information

All written communication about your application will be sent to your authorised recipient, unless you indicate that you wish to have health and/or character information sent directly to you.

The department will communicate with the most recently appointed authorised recipient as you may only appoint one authorised recipient at any time for a particular application.

You will be taken to have received any documents sent to that person as if they had been sent to you.

To appoint an authorised recipient you should complete:

- Part M Options for receiving written communications; and
- form 956A Appointment or withdrawal of an authorised recipient.

Note: Migration agents/exempt persons do not need to complete form 956A.

Form 956A is available from the department's website www.immi.gov.au/allforms/

Consent to communicate electronically

The department may use a range of means to communicate with you. However, electronic means such as fax or e-mail will only be used if you indicate your agreement to receiving communication in this way.

To process your application the department may need to communicate with you about sensitive information, for example, health, police checks, financial viability and personal relationships. Electronic communications, unless adequately encrypted, are not secure and may be viewed by others or interfered with.

If you agree to the department communicating with you by electronic means, the details you provide will only be used by the department for the purpose for which you have provided them, unless there is a legal obligation or necessity to use them for another purpose, or you have consented to use for another purpose. They will not be added to any mailing list.

The Australian Government accepts no responsibility for the security or integrity of any information sent to the department over the internet or by other electronic means.

If you authorise another person to receive documents on your behalf and they wish to be contacted electronically, their signature is required on form 956 or 956A to indicate their consent to this form of communication.

Note: Electronic communication is the fastest means of communication available and the department prefers to communicate electronically because this results in faster processing.
